

Claims: Please amend the claims according to the status designations in the following list,

Claims 1-20 (CANCELED)

21. (NEW) Luggage comprising: a combination wheeled rolling suitcase and a garment bag, said suitcase being a substantially hollow rectangular box with six external surfaces comprising a front and back surface, two smaller lateral surfaces connected and perpendicular to said front and back surfaces, and a top and bottom surface, a retractable handle attached to said back surface, and a plurality of wheels attached to said bottom surface, said garment bag wraps substantially around the outside of said suitcase such that said garment bag partially or completely covers said front and back surfaces and said lateral surfaces, said top and bottom surfaces being free of contact with said garment bag, said garment bag being releasably secured to said outer surfaces of said suitcase by releasable attachment means.

22. (NEW) The luggage of claim 21 wherein said attachment means comprise a plurality of hook and loop fasteners integral to said outer surfaces of said suitcase and complementary hook and loop fasteners integral to the interior face of said garment bag, said hook and loop fasteners being positioned for releasable securement of said garment bag to said rolling suitcase.

23. (NEW) The luggage of claim 21 wherein said attachment means comprise a plurality of clips, said clips comprising a male portion and a complementary female portion, said male or female portion of said clips being integral to said suitcase, said complementary portion of said clips being integral to the top edge of said garment bag, whereby said garment bag may be detachably attached to said suitcase.

24. (NEW) The luggage of claim 21 wherein said garment bag, after being attached to and wrapped around said suitcase, is secured in place by attachment means that are adjustable to accommodate varying amounts of clothing contained in said garment bag.

25. (NEW) The luggage of claim 24 wherein said attachment means comprise a plurality of clips comprising a male portion, a complementary female portion, and adjustable straps, whereby said straps can be selectively tensioned to securely hold said garment bag against said outer surface of said suitcase to allow for the selective expansion of said garment bag to be loaded with varying amounts of clothing, and to substantially eliminate movement of said garment bag while traveling.

26. (NEW) The luggage of claim 21 where said suitcase has an access opening at the top end of said suitcase, said access opening being releasably securable and allowing access to the interior portion of said suitcase while said garment bag is wrapped around said suitcase without having to detach said garment bag from said suitcase.

27. (NEW) The luggage of claim 23 whereby said clips are paired such that neither the garment bag nor suitcase has clips all of a single gender, but at least one set of clip is reversed from the others so that there is only a single orientation whereby said garment bag can be attached to said suitcase, thereby preventing the user from accidentally attaching said garment bag incorrectly.
